

HELP ARMY VETERAN JAMES RECOVER AFTER HIS SERIOUS ACCIDENT

On October 2, 2026, I was on my way to work when I was involved in a serious accident that left me dealing with injuries that have affected nearly every part of my daily life.

I was thrown from my bike and landed on my head before being transported to the hospital.

I suffered a hematoma on the back of my head, a concussion, a neck injury, back pain, significant left knee pain, and widespread bruising.

Since the accident, the symptoms involving my head have been especially concerning. I have been dealing with constant headaches, difficulty remembering certain things, slower mental processing, and changes in my speech. I have already undergone a CT scan, and additional evaluation of my head is being arranged.

Before the accident, I worked as a behavior intervention specialist with special education students from K through 12, including children who are considered at risk.

I love the work I do, the students I help, and the people I work alongside. But right now, I am unable to work, and when I am not working, I am not getting paid.

Before beginning my career in education, I spent about nine years serving in Army logistics. After leaving the military in 2021, I found another way to serve by working with special education students and young people who need support, patience, and someone willing to believe in them.

My family is also a huge part of my life. My fiancée, Sophia, and I have been together for eight years, and between us we have five amazing children.

Right now, my focus is on healing, getting answers about the symptoms I am experiencing, and being able to return to my students and family as the person they know me to be.

Funds raised through HelpVy will help with my medical and everyday living expenses while I recover and remain unable to work.

If you are able to donate or share my story, my family and I would be deeply grateful.
