

HELP JUSTIN RECOVER AFTER A SERIOUS MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

I never thought I would be the one writing something like this, but here I am.

On April 7th, I was involved in a serious motorcycle accident in Greenville, South Carolina that I'm still recovering from today.

I was riding my motorcycle when the vehicle in front of me suddenly slammed on the brakes. I had no time to react. The crash broke my left arm and dislocated my right arm, and left me with road rash on top of everything else.

I was taken to the hospital where I had surgery on my left arm. I spent three days there before I was able to go home. Now I'm dealing with the recovery process — which is harder than I expected with both arms out of commission.

The hardest part isn't the pain. It's not knowing when I'll be able to get back to work. I can't do much for myself right now, and the bills aren't waiting for me to get better. Medical expenses, everyday living costs — it all adds up fast when the paychecks stop coming in.

I'm not someone who asks for help easily, but I'm in a tough spot and I need it. If you're able to contribute anything at all, it will go directly toward keeping me afloat while I heal — medical bills, rent, food, the basics.

I'm grateful for anything you can spare, and even more grateful just to have people in my corner. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.
