

HELP MICHAEL HEAL AFTER HIS MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

I never expected a normal day to turn into something that would change my life so suddenly. One moment I was riding, and the next everything happened faster than I could process. A motorcycle accident left me seriously injured and facing a long road to recovery.

The impact caused injuries that required immediate medical care, and since then I've been dealing with ongoing treatment, pain, and limited mobility. Simple things I used to do without thinking—working, driving, even daily tasks—are now difficult or impossible for the time being.

Beyond the physical pain, this accident has created a heavy financial burden. Medical bills, follow-up appointments, medications, and time away from work have added up quickly. I'm doing everything I can to heal and stay positive, but the stress of the expenses has made this journey even harder.

I'm incredibly grateful to be alive, and I'm determined to recover. Any support—whether through donations, sharing this fundraiser, or kind words—means more than I can put into words. Every bit helps me focus on healing instead of worrying about how I'll manage the costs.
